About the Association . . .

The New York State Vegetable Growers Association was founded in 1911 by a group of market gardeners in the Rochester area and Professor Paul A. Work of the newly established Department of Vegetable Gardening (which became the Department of Vegetable Crops in 1924 and the Department of Horticulture in 2000) at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York. Throughout the years, our growers have seen our fresh market and processing industries undergo a great many changes in New York State, across the nation, and around the world.

The New York State Vegetable Growers Association Inc. continues to be a very strong and active organization, involved in a wide range of industry-related projects, with a membership of approximately 500. The Association publishes a newsletter and resource materials for its members, represents growers on various state, regional and national levels, and works actively with many of the agricultural industry's key organizations. A Fresh Market Vegetable Research Fund facilitates research each year by university and private researchers on a variety of key crop production topics.

In addition, the Association sponsors the Empire State Fruit and Vegetable Expo & Direct Marketing Conference. This major state-wide conference is co-sponsored with Cornell Cooperative Extension/NYS College of Agriculture & Life Sciences, The Empire State Potato Growers, The New York State Berry Growers Association, The Associated New York State Food Processors, The New York State Farmers' Direct Marketing Association, and The New York State Horticulture Society. This important conference combines the fresh market, storage and processing vegetables statewide meetings for our growers, drawing participants from around the state as well as the Northeast, from across the nation and Canada.

The New York State Vegetable Shipper Directory is published every two years to promote our growers and shippers and the quality produce that is available from New York State. It is sent to produce buyers free of charge upon request and is available to buyers at the trade shows and conventions where the Association is represented. The Association also hosts a website that includes an on-line shipper directory. See page 2 for information on the site, as well as information for registration and use of the site.

New York State Vegetable Growers Association Online Shipper Directory Registration Information

www.nysvga.org

The NYSVGA website allows New York State Vegetable Association grower members to set up an account that shows current availability of vegetables available from their farms in New York State. Buyers can use this site to source NYS vegetables in a real-time format. Buyers can search for currently available produce by commodity type, grower name, and/or region. This site provides vegetable buyers with the opportunity to easily and efficiently source NYS vegetables from the growers themselves.

Growers who are members of the Association may register on the site as a member benefit. If you are a grower, you will need to be a member of NYSVGA in order to set up an account. Buyers may register on the site at no charge. However, verification regarding your company may be required in order to complete the registration process. If you are a grower and a buyer, you will need to be a member of the association and may possibly be required to provide verification regarding your status as a produce buyer.

Information necessary to set up an account on the NYSVGA website is provided below. Actual sales are not meant to be conducted through this website; rather, the site provides updated commodity and contact information that buyers need in order to source New York State grown vegetables. It is the responsibility of the grower to keep his/her account up to date and accurate regarding produce availability.

The Online New York State Vegetable Shipper Directory is for the exclusive use of New York State vegetable growers and commercial produce buyers. It is meant to facilitate communication between the two groups so that the availability of New York State-grown produce is easily accessed and the site will provide a platform for ease of sale between the two groups. By registering for the website, the person registering acknowledges that he/she is either a vegetable grower and/or commercial produce buyer. Prior to being issued a password, the registrant's contact information will be verified.
